

WINNERS IN WINDOW CONTEST ANNOUNCED

Prizes for Those Who Picked Winners Due in Next Day or Two.

in awarding all the prizes and in the honorable mentions they accorded. The complete statement of their awards follows:

In judging these windows it was necessary to take into consideration, first, the terms of the contest, which, on a basis of 100 points, required 50 points to be given to selling power of a window, 20 points to artistic effect, 20 points to originality, and 10 points for magnificence of display.

The judges also took into consideration the style of window adapted to the location of the store.

In some instances it was found that windows which might have won a prize on artistic merit alone were not sufficiently expressive of the nature of the goods sold by the store. In other instances it was found that windows which had great selling power lacked the necessary artistic or original features.

King's Palace Is First.

"With these considerations the awards are made as follows:

Class A—Department, dry goods, millinery and ladies' shops, King's Palace, 519-515 Seventh street.

Honorable mention—Goldenberg's, Palais Royal, Lanhamburgh.

Class B—Clothing, men's furnishings, hats, shoes and tailor shops, D. J. Kaufman, 1800-1807 Pennsylvania avenue.

Honorable mention—Young Men's Shop, Walkover Shoe Store.

Class C—Drug, stationery, book, music, art jewelry, china, cigar, confectionery stores, photographers' studios—Whitmore, Lynn & Alden Co., 1255 F street.

Honorable mention—Vetati, Dulin & Martin, Drown's.

Class D—Hardware, carriage, harness, sporting goods, leather goods, automobile, furniture, wall paper, paint, electrical and plumbing shops—W. B. Moses & Sons, Eleventh and F streets.

Honorable mention—The Globe-Wernicke Company, Goodyear Tires, Meyer's Military Shop.

Class E—Grocery and provision stores, fictitious shops, bakeries and meat markets—Shaffer, the florist, 900 Fourteenth street.

Honorable mention—Gude.

LEWIS C. CLEPHANE, MICHAEL JACOBS, FELIX MAHONEY, Judges.

Each of the merchants who have been named in the statement of awards by the judges will receive the prize that has been provided to give to use as he sees fit. There are five prizes in the form of scholarships in the International Correspondence Schools, which have been purchased outright by The Times.

The announcement of the award of the judges is regarded as one of the best evidences of the absolute fairness of the contest to the merchants who entered their shops. The classification of the merchants was found by the judges to give them a much better opportunity to make the awards in absolute justice than any other method that could have been selected, and they were loud in their praise of the system.

The separation of the various kinds of merchandise made it possible for all the merchants to compete. It is pointed out that the store which scored the highest number of points is not a store where a professional window dresser is employed. The professional came in for recognition of his ability in the classes where professional window dressers are employed.

Announcement of the award of the three cash prizes has been found a much more difficult job than it first appeared, because of the thousands of readers of The Times who sent in coupons. The force of the classification of the coupons made little headway last night or this morning. It will require at least a day to make up the classification and then will come the reading of the answers.

The Times' readers whose opinions regarding the displays coincided with those of the judges will be separated from the others and the three $10 cash prizes will be awarded on the basis of the opinions expressed in the reasons given for the judgment. It is possible that the list will be in readiness for publication tomorrow.

Utilities Board for Conduit Road Pipes

Urges Legislation, if Necessary, to Extend Gas Mains.

Recommendation that if permission cannot be granted under existing law, legislation be obtained for the extension of gas mains in the Conduit road has been made by the Public Utilities Commission to the War Department.

The commission's action is based on the requests of four residents of the Conduit road that their premises be supplied with gas.

The Georgetown Gas Light Company, the commission states, is prepared, when permit is granted, to lay a main along the Conduit road from Foxhall road to Reservoir street and thence from Reservoir street to U street.

The War Department, which has jurisdiction of the Conduit road, has informed the commission that investigation is being made to determine the necessity for the proposed extension.

G. W. U. Plans to Give "Disraeli" Early in May

"Disraeli" will be staged by the George Washington University Dramatic Society during the early part of May. The organization originally decided to produce "Green Stockings," but there was general dissatisfaction with the selection and a split in the society occurred. "Disraeli" then was chosen as a substitute.

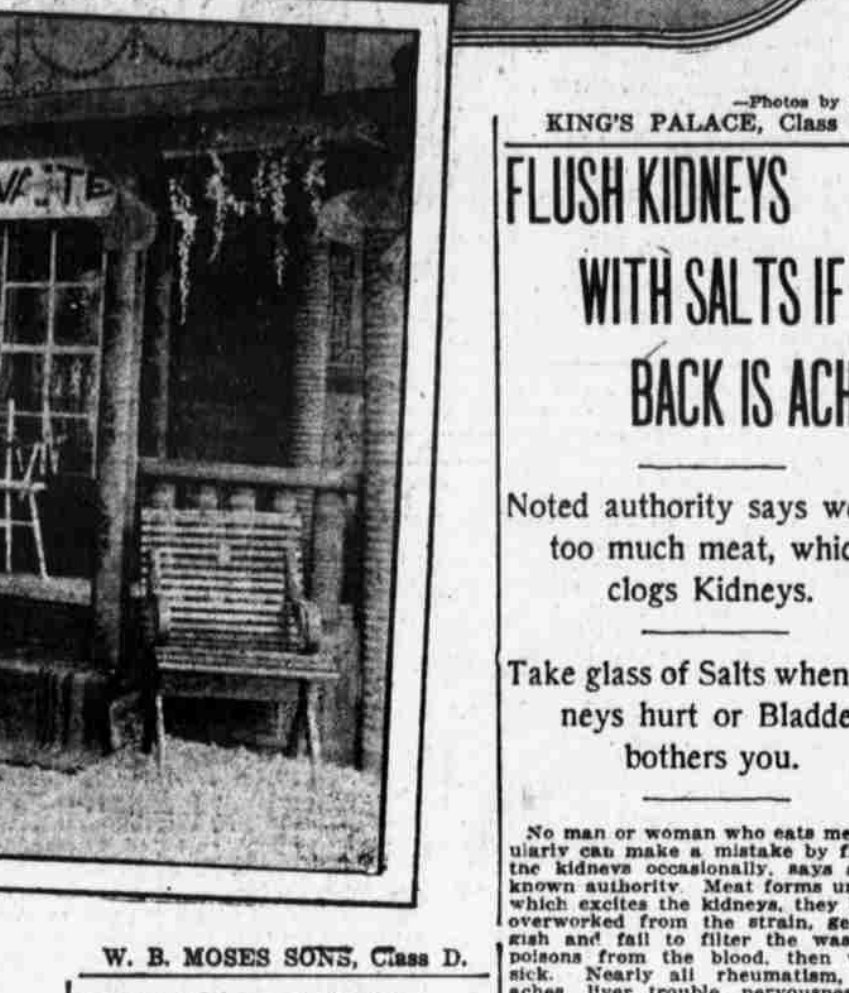

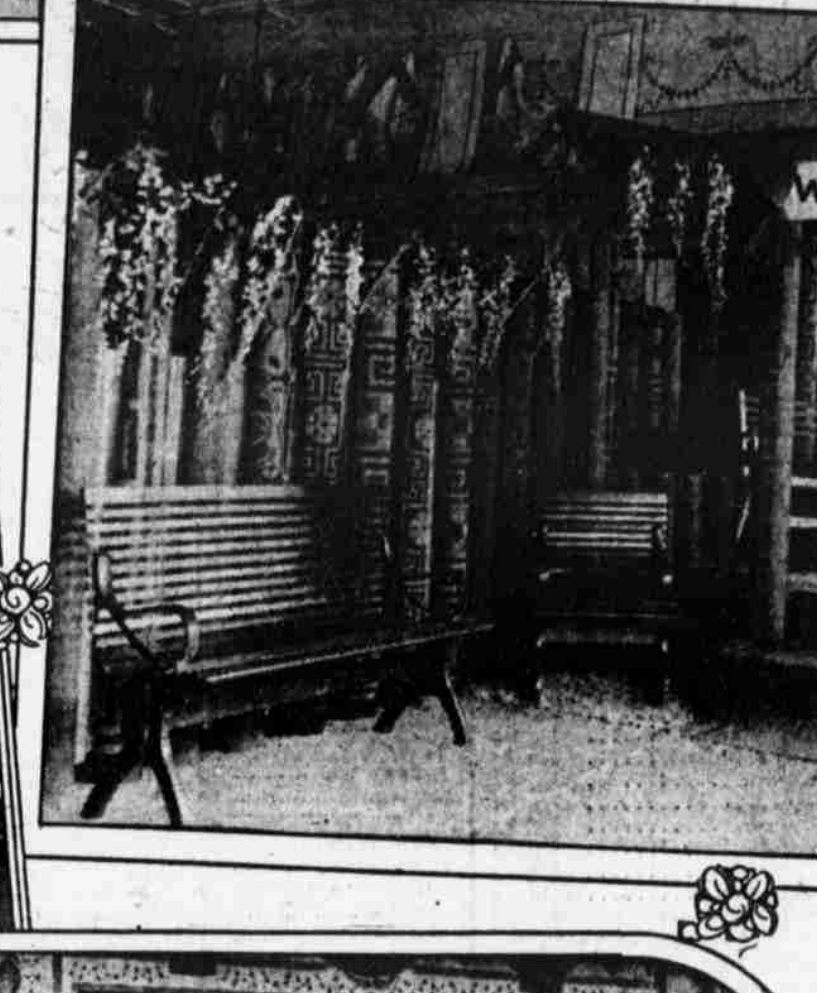

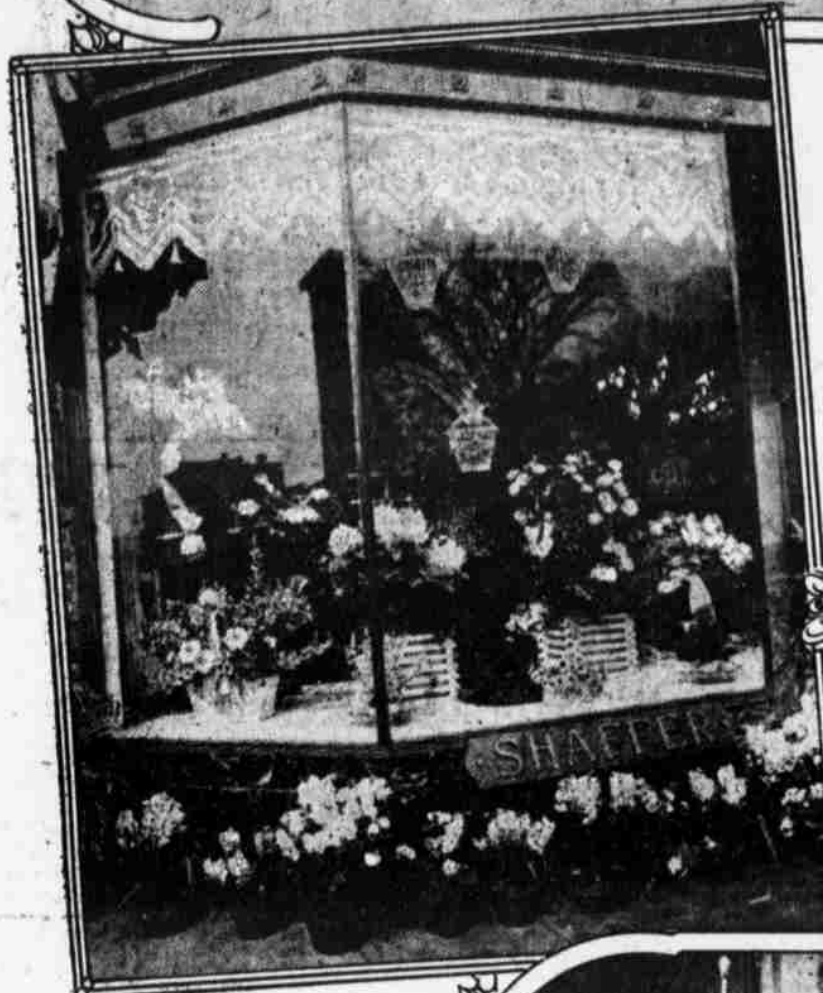

Frank Myers has resigned as president of the Dramatic Society because of the press of business. He is succeeded by Sol S. Gluck. Mr. Gluck's dramatic experience began in high school theatricals and amateur productions in Milwaukee. There he played leads in "The Rivals," "The Merchant of Venice," "Othello," and other productions. He is regarded as the most talented actor at the university.

Bishop Harding Confirms A Class of Fifty-five

The rite of confirmation was administered by Bishop Harding to a class of fifty-five at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church last night.

The class was presented by the Rev. George Fluke Dudley, rector of the church. Bishop Harding's lecture was on the theme "Blessed Are They Who Hear the Word and Keep It." During the offertory the vested choir of men and boys rendered "The Kingdom All Glorious."

BILLY SUNDAY AGAIN BREAKS INTO SOCIETY

Gives Talk in Private Home. Makes Hearers Gasp in Tabernacle.

BALTIMORE, April 6.—Billy Sunday broke into society again this morning with another of his "drawing room talks," at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Garrett on Charles street, extended.

This afternoon and this evening he is to preach a sermon for which Baltimore has been waiting, his famous discourse on "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." He will deliver this sermon to men only.

Last evening Sunday made his hearers gasp with the assertion:

"I don't believe I would have to leave the corporate limits of Baltimore to find people mean enough to cry 'Crucify Him.' If Jesus Christ were to come to Baltimore tonight and to walk down Charles street."

Eighteen thousand people who filled the tabernacle at Greenmount avenue and Twenty-ninth street heard Billy Sunday make that declaration, in the course of his sermon on "If Christ Should Come to Baltimore."

He handled his theme characteristically, without gloves, and at times the multitude that heard him gasped in astonishment, other times it applauded, and once many persons laughed. It was thrif that somehow did not fit in, and Sunday reproved it. The laughter, the reproof, and the remark that had caused it made an episode that left a sting.

What Would He Do?

Sunday, after sticking closely to the text of his sermon began interpolating a bit, speculating as to what Christ would do if He were to come here.

"Would He spend his time on the ballroom floor hugging some girl. Oh, don't you laugh, don't you laugh! A lot of you church members are doing the same thing yourselves. You know you are."

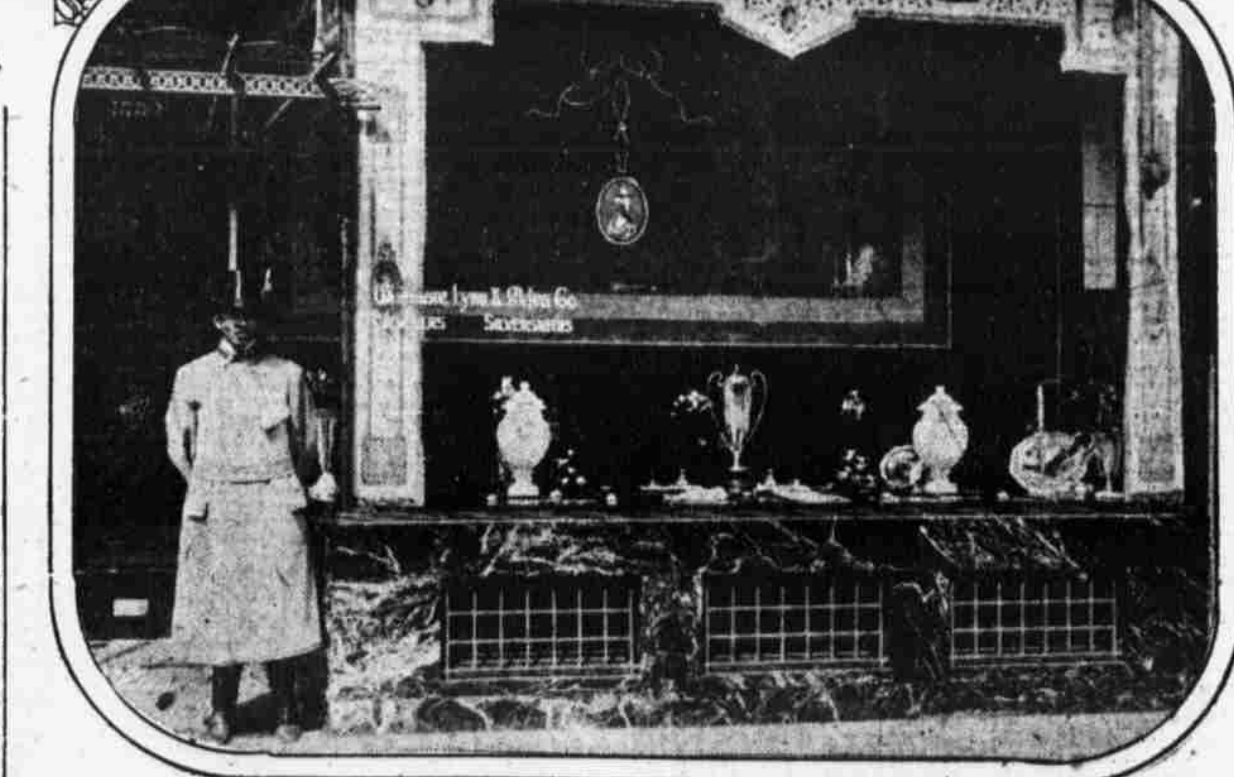

The laughter died away, and Sunday continued. He said that Christ would not be found in the whirl of society, nor in the homes of the rich, but among the lowly, where He would be giving aid and comfort. But it would not be because the people of wealth did not need Him.

"For you women who live in Roland Park, you need Jesus Christ as much as those who live down in the 'Neck.'"

"If Christ were to come to Baltimore, what changes would you make if you had twenty-four hours' warning? Would you men call her up on the phone and say: 'It's all off. Jesus will be in town tomorrow?'"

"Would you tell the brewer's wagon not to call tomorrow? Would you take anything out of the ice box that you have there now?"

But, no, he said, many folks would go on living as they had been living. Christ, he said, would commend the beautiful parks of the city, the charitable institutions, the monuments and the like, but would say: "These things

WILLIAM F. GUDE HONORED BY ELKS

William F. Gude was installed as exalted ruler of Washington Lodge of Elks, No. 15, with impressive ceremonies last night. Samuel Richards, retiring exalted ruler, who will represent Washington Lodge at the Elks' convention in Baltimore this summer, was presented with a life membership in appreciation of his services. The same honor was accorded Patrick J. Foley, retiring trustee.

The following of esteemed rank were installed: Fred J. Mersheimer, leading knight; John H. Balz, loyal knight; William J. Evans, lecturing knight; William S. Shelly, secretary; Michael G. McCormick, treasurer; Joseph H. Wood, trustee; and Thomas J. King, tiler, were also installed. Samuel Richards was given his authority as delegate to the grand lodge, and Edward J. Murphy as his alternate.

James L. Ward, district deputy grand exalted ruler, presented Washington Lodge with a set of officers' jewels. The newly installed exalted ruler designated the following to serve for 1916: Joseph C. Vasson, inner guard; Charles F. Herrmann, organist; John C. Maxwell, chaplain; and Daniel R. Nihon, assessor.

The "ancient and honorable mother ball committee" staged an exemplification of an old-time initiation, at a social session following the installation ceremonies. M. G. McCormick is chairman of the committee. John C. Maxwell, secretary, and Charles Jacobson, treasurer.

Life-Saving Work To Be Shown at the Y. M. C. A.

The methods of breaking the various holds, of towing an unconscious person in the water, and a general demonstration of the life-saving systems formulated by the Red Cross will be shown.

Quick, Safe Way to Remove Hairs

(Toilet Talks.)

Keep a little delatone powder on your dressing table and when ugly, hairy growths appear, make a paste with a little of the powder and some water, apply and let remain on the hairy surface for 2 or 3 minutes, then rub off, wash the skin and the hairs have vanished. This treatment is quite harmless and rarely more than one application is required, but to avoid disappointment care should be used to buy the real delatone.—Advt.

Safety First Stand Demolished By Truck

The "safety first" stand occupied by crossing policemen at Wisconsin avenue and M street northwest was demolished yesterday.

The police say that the stand was struck by a coal truck driven by Oscar Corbin, of 1251 street northwest. No one was hurt as the result of the accident.

Flush Kidneys With Salts If Back Is Aching

Noted authority says we eat too much meat, which clogs Kidneys.

Take glass of Salts when Kidneys hurt or Bladder bothers you.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headache, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, slowness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.—Advt.
